

Abstract

Electrical Accessory

An electrical accessory comprising releasably engageable first and second body members, said first body member 10 including a receiving portion adapted to be releasably engageable with a plug member of an electric cord of an electric appliance, said second body member comprising a first plug member being electrically connectable with an electricity mains supply, a second plug member adapted to 15 be releasably engageable with said first body member and an electric cord being electrically connecting said first and second plug members, and a securing means for securing said first body member to a surface.

20 [Fig. 1]

BEST AVAILABLE COPY